Rates Are Divided In Two and Three Year Periods

New gas rates were proposed by George Foerst, local manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. Wednesday at the city council meeting. The new rates would become effective March 22 when the present contract of the company with council expires.

The matter was referred to a committee of council consisting of all the members with E. S. Neuding as chairman.

Following is the program of proposed rates covering a period of five years.

The following are for 1931 to 1932:

- 20 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 500 cubic feet;
- 7 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 1,500 cubic feet;
- 6 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 3,000 cubic feet;
- 5 1/2 cents for each 100 cubic feet for the first 195,000 cubic feet;
- 5 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 200,000 cubic feet.

For the next three years of the proposed contract the rates would be as follows:

- 30 cents for the first 100 cubic feet for the first 500 cubic feet;
- 7 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 1,500 cubic feet;
- 6 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 3,000 cubic feet;
- 5 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 195,000 cubic feet;
- 5 cents per hundred feet for the next 200,000 cubic feet.

The gas contract which comes to an end on March 22, has been in use for the past five years in divisions of two and three years.

Following is the rate the city users paid in 1926 and 1927:

- 95 cents for the first 500 cubic feet or less with no discount;
- 48 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 4,500 cubic feet;
- 53 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 5,000 cubic feet;
- 58 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for the next 5,000 cubic feet;
- 63 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for all over 15,000 cubic feet. These rates were subject to a discount of 3 cents per 1,000 cubic feet if paid within 10 days.

For the past three years, 1928, 1929 and 1930 the following rate has been in existence:

- $1 for the first 500 cubic feet or less without discount;
- 63 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for all over 500 cubic feet subject to a discount of 3 cents per thousand cubic feet.

The matter of the proposed rate will be thoroughly discussed by the council before any action is taken.

PARTIES FIGHT OVER OHIO TAX APPOINTMENTS

Republican Plan To Have White Appoint Three On New Commission

DEMS. CLAIM SCHEME

Study To Begin In Senate This Afternoon

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 22.—Over Democratic complaints that "you" have no power to order the governor around," state senate Republicans today proceeded with a plan which, if adopted, probably will force Gov. George White to personally share responsibility for whatever taxation legislation the 98th general assembly enacts.

Reiterating hints of Republican antagonism to Mr. White until the last vote, Democrats could not prevent the Republican majority in the senate taxation committee from adopting a scheme for a special taxation committee to which the governor will be expected to appoint three members.

REYNOLDS ANGRY

A dispute strictly partisan in nature, which ended in the committee yesterday when Sen. James A. Reynolds (D) of Cleveland, author of a defeated plan declared "I'm not going to be the father of an illegitimate child" and ordered his name to be removed from the taxation committee bill, was carried to the floor of the senate today.

Democrats on the committee numbered 8 to 5, were unwilling to require Gov. White to have any part in deciding who shall constitute the special taxation committee which will help members of the legislature work out a new tax bill.

Republicans, however, indicating that responsibility for the taxation legislation is the governor's as much as theirs, and wishing, they said, to obtain his cooperation and lend their own cooperation from the start, insisted that Mr. White be expected to help pick the committee.

"If this scheme is passed, Republicans will have succeeded in making it impossible for the governor to veto any tax bill because he will have to repudiate his own representatives on the committee in doing so," Sen. Reynolds protested.

ANSWERS QUESTION

To a Republican assertion that "we do not want to embarrass the governor," Sen. Reynolds, who is recognized as one of the Democrats closest to Mr. White, declared:

"You may not want to embarrass the governor but that is the first thing you are trying to do."

The plan finally adopted in the committee was the work of Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) of Cincinnati, "tax expert, and is, he said, "a nice polite way to cooperate with the governor."

It provides for a special committee of nine members, three to be named from the senate by the president, three to be named from the house by the speaker, and "if the governor so desires," three to be picked by him.

"PUG" FOWLER SENTENCED TO 10-25 YEARS

Two Days Each Week Must Be Spent At Hard Labor Judge Rules

GUILTY OF ROBBERY

Is First Trip To Pen For Man Arrested Often

William "Pug" Fowler, this city, convicted by a jury on a charge of robbery last week was sentenced to from 10 to 25 years in the Ohio Penitentiary by Common Pleas Judge J. W. Adkins late Wednesday. A motion for a new trial, filed by C. A. Leist, counsel for Fowler, was overruled by Judge Adkins. Leist claimed that the court erred in permitting testimony introduced by the state to be accepted, and that it also erred in rejecting testimony offered by the defendant. He also cited misconduct of one of the jurors, namely Charles Morris of Salt Creek twp., who was separated from the jury the second day of the trial.

Fowler was arrested some time ago, with Jimmy Jones of Rossco, on a charge of robbery of William Clevenger of Amanda, of $108. Jones pleaded guilty and is now serving a sentence.

Out of each week, Fowler must serve two days at hard labor. He was taken to the pen Thursday morning by members of the sheriff's office.

HOOVER NOW OUT IN OPEN

Party Leaders Believe President To Run For Office on Bone-Dry Platform.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Forty-eight hours of reflection upon the Wickersham report and the developments that followed it have convinced the politicians in Washington that the presidential election of 1932 is going to provide that "great and solemn" referendum on the prohibition question which the campaign of 1928 might have produced had it not been for the injection of other issues.

There is scarcely a political leader here, Republican or Democrat, wet or dry, conservative or progressive, who does not believe that President Hoover has elected to stand for re-election as a boundary next year, and that he will be opposed by a Democrat opposed to prohibition, and standing on a wet, Democratic platform.

They believe that President Hoover, in his message to Congress transmitting the Wickersham report, has burned his bridges behind him on the prohibition question, and with them his party's bridges as well.

CIVIL WAR VET ANSWERS CALL

Henry Wells, Aged 89, Dies at Home in Ashville Wednesday Afternoon.

Taps sounded Wednesday afternoon for Henry Wells, aged 89, one of Ashville's most revered residents. Paralysis caused his death. A veteran of the Civil War, Mr. Wells was highly respected by everyone in the community and was a welcome figure everywhere a community affair was taking place.

He never missed a holiday celebration and after fishing enjoyed a celebration better than anything in his late years. He could be seen along the creek bank everytime the weather was at all agreeable.

He served during the War of the Rebellion in Company D, 9th Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Cavalry. Mr. Wells was born in England, the son of Stephen and Sarah Kitchener Wells. He came to this country when a child.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Anna Wilkins Wells, and the following children. Mrs. James Huits, Columbus; Mrs. David Finney, Ashville; Ed Wells, Ashville; Mrs. L. L. Hughes, Columbus, and Miss Hazel Wells, Ashville. One sister, Mrs. Mary Brobeck of Ashville, and one brother, John B. Wells, this city, also survive.

Military funeral rites are being arranged by E. F. Schlegel, Ashville funeral director, to be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at the Ashville U. B. church with Rev. L. H. Hampshire officiating. Burial will be in South Bloomfield cemetery.

SENATE WETS GAIN VICTORY

Constitutional Convention Resolution on Dry Law Before Judiciary.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 22.—Having tried the senate temperance committee and found it to have temperate tendencies, effort was to be made in the state senate today to determine whether there may be a few wets in the judiciary committee.

Demand that resolution calling for Congress to summon a constitutional convention to consider amendments to sent to the judiciary committee was to be made by L. L. Marshall (R) of Cleveland. He hopes passage of his resolution will mean an amendment to the prohibition act ultimately resulting.

Senator Marshall heads the senate judiciary committee and thus it may take a different stand on liquor than the temperance committee showed yesterday when it killed a bill designed to force revision of the Temperance day law.

Opposition to reference of the resolution to the judiciary committee has been quieted, Senator Marshall predicted.

FLORIDA MAN IS WOUNDED BY OUTLAWS

Six Slip Into Sleeper And Obtain $7,000, Near

MAKE THEIR ESCAPE

One Robber Stands Guard While Others Search Box

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 22.—Slipping quietly from a day coach into the "Florida sleeper" of the fast No. 9 southbound Toledo-Cincinnati Big Four passenger express train, six armed bandits today held up and robbed six passengers of the car and escaped after shooting one man who attempted to call for assistance. Loot is estimated at $7,000.

The daring robbery occurred between Carey and Bellefontaine. It was executed with professional bravado and so quietly that conductors and brakemen on the train knew nothing about the holdup until after the robbers had made good their escape from the train.

MAN IS WOUNDED

Edwin K. Nelson of Tampa, Fla., was shot by one of the bandits when he cried out for assistance. The bullet pierced his right lung. At a Bellefontaine hospital where he was taken, physicians held little hope for his recovery.

Victims of the holdup, according to railroad officials, were:

- E. W. Warner of Cincinnati;
- Mr. and Mrs. A. MacPherson of Cedar Springs, Ont.
- Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Young of Toronto.

Mrs. L. G. Dearing of Chattanooga, Tenn., who reported that a ring seized from her hand by the bandits was valued at $3,000.

Mrs. E. J. Zacharias, who reported that the bandits had stolen a diamond watch from her.

Train officials, who made a hurried inspection of other coaches following the report of the robbery, informed authorities that the "Florida sleeper" was the only car robbed by the bandits.

PUT IN HOSPITAL

Nelson was removed from the train at Bellefontaine. He was rushed to a hospital where attaches said he would probably die. Police at Bellefontaine were immediately notified of the holdup and a search dragnet was flung over the entire country.

Exciting, but disjointed stories were told by passengers arriving here this morning.

One robber stood guard while the rest went through the coaches plundering the luggage and the pockets of the sleeping passengers. The robbers took about an hour for the holdup to complete looting the train, passengers estimated.

Escape of the bandits, it was believed, was affected with the aid of an automobile that had apparently trailed the train toward Bellefontaine. The bandits leaped from the car just as the train pulled into the Bellefontaine station. It was said.

LEGGE DEFENDS POLICIES OF GOVERNMENT'S FARM BOARD

WASHINGTON. — The federal farm board would lose about $70,000,000 on wheat and cotton if it were forced to liquidate today, Chairman Alexander Legge estimated to the House appropriations committee on Jan. 12, it was disclosed in hearings of the House appropriations committee today.

But farmers of the country, Legge said, are profiting about $3,000,000 a week because of the stabilization policies of the board.

This, he said, is based upon the fact that the American price for wheat is higher than the world price.

"We think it worth while," said

Legge, defending the board. "I do not know what the final outcome may be, but we feel if it had been allowed to drop to 25 cents a bushel, and that is where it would be on the Liverpool market today, we would have had another series of bank failures and everything that goes with it, here, would be pretty serious."

Loss on wheat, if the board would liquidate today, would be about $30,000,000 and on cotton about $40,000,000, Legge estimated. The farm board, through stabilization corporations, has about 75,000,000 bushels of wheat now and a considerable amount on contract. The board has about $27,000,000 in wheat loans to co-operatives and $65,000,000 has been advanced to the grain stabilization corporation. It has loaned $68,000,000 to cotton co-operatives and has about $40,000,000 in the cotton stabilization corporation.

The committee voted $100,000,000 for the farm board to be available July 1, bringing the total authorizations to $500,000,000. Asked if this would have to be raised in the future, Chairman Legge said he hoped to avoid it.

Members of the committee quizzed Legge about salaries paid to farm co-operative heads and managers of the stabilization corporations.

The manager of the grain stabilization corporation and the farmers national grain corporation, receives $50,000 from the two organizations, Legge said. The highest paid man in the cotton stabilization corporation, is guaranteed $25,000 with additional compensation based on earnings which might run to $75,000, Legge said.

PICKAWAY SCHOOLS

Music for the Saturday afternoon session of the Kingston Farmers Institute was furnished by our orchestra and mixed chorus.

The orchestra now has fourteen members. It was organized just one year ago and is Pickaway's first school orchestra. A junior orchestra of twenty pieces has just been organized, and we expect it to make rapid progress, too.

The class of 1930 now has a daily reminder before us in the form of an electric clock. We appreciate it very much.

Attendance has continued at 97 percent or better for the past several weeks. This is a good record and we hope it will continue.

Our next basket ball games are with Muhlenberg on our court Friday night. A very pleasant evening is anticipated.

Watch for our third honor roll. It will be in our news letter next week.

DERBY

This community was shocked last Thursday morning to learn that Elza Wrightsnel had passed from this life during the night of heart trouble. He was as well as usual in the evening and died within 15 minutes after he awakened his wife he was dead.

His funeral was held at the M. F. church Saturday at 2 p. m. Rev. Witherspoon of Columbus, and Rev. Rose were the ministers. The Farmers' Institute Friday, and Saturday was well attended. The Ladies' Aid met Tuesday to work on their quilt.

While it might not attract as much publicity, a safety "marathon" would be infinitely more profitable than dancing, chair-rocking or tree-sitting.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescription for the bowels, written by a famous physician—one whose record of over 3500 birth-cases without loss of one mother or baby is believed unique in American medical history.

No wonder Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is ideal for women and children. But it is equally effective for the bowels of robust men. Whether you're only occasionally constipated or chronically that way, it will cleanse, regulate your bowels, harmlessly and in a hurry. All drugstores have the big bottles.

NO MORE HORSE-LAUGHS

REMEMBER what our school books taught us about the lives of inventors who lived many years ago? How often we used to read, "He went on with his experiments in spite of the laughter of his friends, and the ridicule of his neighbors."

How different is the modern state of mind! This age is remarkable for its keen awareness of progress . . . the eager willingness of most of us to accept new things, and better ways. The skeptical person is the exception—expectancy is the rule. If we read about an invention that will wash the middle of our backs, we say, "Fair enough; tomorrow there will be an automatic way to keep our noses powdered."

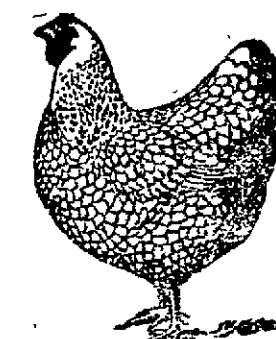

New things and better ways are announced regularly in this paper . . . in the advertisements. Every day you may be expecting something that will make your life easier, pleasanter, more healthful. Possibly a new electrical contrivance, or a car that's easier to drive, or a new idea in breakfast foods. Follow the advertising columns . . . and sooner or later you'll get the news. People who make it a point to know what's going on read the advertisements every day.

NEW CABINET IS POSSIBLE

COLUMBUS, O.—Creation of an emergency cabinet on unemployment and relief to help relieve Ohio distress was being considered today by Governor White.

Selection of such a cabinet, immediate appropriation of funds to allow the state department of education to buy shoes and clothing for children in drought-stricken counties, and emergency steps to help counties unable to pay mothers' pensions, were recommended to Mr. White by a conference of relief workers.

The proposed cabinet, which would remove from the governor's attention most of the details of relief work, would include state directors of welfare, health, agriculture, highways, education and industrial relations, and the state adjutant general.

One department would be designated by the governor as a clearing house for all relief measures and suggestions to eliminate conflicting efforts now being made by several agencies.

No emergency appropriation except that which could be given the department of education to continue purchase of shoes and clothing in southern counties is felt to be immediately necessary.

Red Cross and other agencies are buying food for the hungry, making appropriations for that purpose probably unnecessary now, it was said.

General accord with a bill designed by Senator J. G. Lowery (R) of New Concord, providing $100,000 for relief for children of school age, was expressed by the conference, which was attended by Fred C. Croxton, member of President Hoover's emergency unemployment committee; John McSweeney, Wooster, director of public welfare; I. S. Guthery, La Rue, director of agriculture; Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson, Columbus; Fred C. Spaulding, state Red Cross head, and state charities division workers.

COMMUNIST HELD AFTER HALL RAID

NEW YORK.—Two men, said by police to be communists, were held on charges of felonious assault today. The men were arrested after two policemen were slightly injured and scores of persons beaten and cuffed when 2,000 Reds stormed City Hall yesterday, demanding free food, light and gas, as well as weekly wages for the jobless.

Police claimed that one of the men held, charged with striking an officer, had a receipt on his person for $2,622 in a savings bank. They also charged that the man had been arrested in 1917 for non-registration in the military draft.

The officers who arrested the man with the bank account claimed he was one of the crowd who had marched in front of the city hall, shouting with the others: "We want bread; we want bread!"

What we wonder about the new thinking machine is whether it gets fed up occasionally and has to take in a musical comedy.

WEATHER NOW SCIENCE TOPIC

WASHINGTON.—A remarkable scientific discovery, which may make possible forecasting weather for seasons—possibly years—in advance, has been discovered by Dr. C. G. Abbot of the Smithsonian institution, he revealed in hearings of the House appropriations committee, made public today.

The condition of the sun is the secret, Dr. Abbot said in discussing continuance of appropriations for the astrophysical observatory.

Dr. Abbot said:

"I fully believe that within a short time the forecasting of weather, instead of being done from day to day, as it is now by aid of telegraphic news as to conditions which prevail a few hundred miles west of us, will be done by the knowledge of the condition of the sun.

"It will be done not only a day or a few days in advance, as is customary at the present time, but weeks, possibly months, possibly years in advance. Even to that hitherto unheard of extent, we shall get a fair knowledge of what is ahead of us."

The discovery is new, but the study leading to it is old, Dr. Abbot said. He began work on the theory 35 years ago. Congress has provided funds for a study of solar radiation since 1903.

Years of study of the sun has convinced him there are periodical changes in the sun—and these changes are followed by certain kinds of weather, Dr. Abbot explained.

Announcing NEW LOW PRICES On Estate Gas Ranges

In all the years of selling stoves, never have we had such a low price to offer on Genuine Estate Gas Ranges. Every Estate stove now made has the Fresh-Air oven (built like a double boiler) ThermEstate Oven Heat Control . . . enameled one piece oven sides and removable oven bottom . . . completely concealed hinges, nuts and bolts . . . these are just a few Estate features.

But the remarkable feature now is the NEW LOW PRICES.

The New Model "K" Gas Range, now $135

This model was first introduced in November, 1930, but it goes on sale at the new low price. It was nationally advertised at $169.50 (cash). Since the oven is level with the cooking top, it will fit any corner without casting a shadow over the cooking top. This is a very commendable feature to those that do not own their own homes. The top over the oven is Estalloy—a non-tarnishing metal. The housewife can use this top as a work-table. Under the cooking top is a drawer for "working-tools," which are supplied with the range. Beneath this drawer is another one for storage of pans and other utensils needed at the range. Salt and pepper shakers are conveniently located within easy reach of the cook. The oven is insulated, retaining heat in the oven so that baking may be done without fire. The lighting of the cooking burners is done by simply turning on the gas. It does just what the factory says it will do—It takes the WALKING out of COOKING.

Price was $169.50 - It is now $135

Free Wheeling

—not the feature of a season but the future of an industry

INFORMED automotive engineers knew the whole future of the motor car was affected when Studebaker successfully introduced Free Wheeling with positive gear control on July 10, 1930.

These men recognized at once that Studebaker had solved a problem as old as motoring—the problem of controlling momentum and putting it to work.

They knew that Free Wheeling, as Studebaker offered it, went straight to the root of applied dynamics—giving the car that offered it a superiority which no car without it could contest.

That is why you are hearing so much more about Free Wheeling today than you did when Studebaker first introduced it. If all cars had it now, the public would save hundreds of millions of dollars in gasoline and oil expense every year.

Free Wheeling has brought Studebaker thoroughness and initiative into the limelight more conspicuously than ever.

Today every Studebaker gives you Free Wheeling. All cars will be aspiring to give it to you tomorrow. It gives you 10,000 miles of travel for 8,000 miles of engine effort—greatly reduced operation and maintenance cost—new safety—new ease of driving.

It means much that these cars come to you with the greatest engineering advancement since the electric starter. But it means even more that they bear the name of Studebaker, distinguished in transportation for more than half the lifetime of the American nation.

Studebaker cars are priced f. o. b. factory from $795 to $2600

Only One Kind of Genius

The masses have never been able to understand high achievement by their fellows. They have always recognized achievement but they have never believed that mortals like themselves could achieve greatness. So as far back as history records people have sought in the realm of the supernatural for the cause of greatness in others.

In early times greatness was explained by attributing to heroes a supernatural origin. Every man or woman who excelled in anything was believed by the multitudes to be the son or daughter of some god or goddess and to be acting under the powers and protection of that god-parent.

And then there came a time when the people no longer believed in the existence of Olympus and its populace of gods and goddesses and they had to search also for the cause of the superior traits and abilities of gifted human beings. They solved the problem by deifying their mortal heroes. Because Apollo, Jupiter and Vulcan were no more did not prevent the masses from reasoning that those who are superior to the great body of men must be possessed of some supernatural powers which make them so.

But the world now lives in a still more enlightened age and no longer accepts the half-god, half-man theory of greatness. Today those who accomplish something are said to have been born great. This birthright of superiority is commonly known as genius. To excel it is necessary that one be born a genius, is a generally accepted axiom. And when the average person speaks of genius it is in the sense of a certain vague supernatural quality with which the twice blessed are endowed and which is denied to all others.

When the genius myth is discarded in the manner of its predecessors, will the world finally confess, although the truth may hurt, that those who achieve much in this world are not supermen but super-workers, that the only genius is the genius for hard work?

Playing the Game

There is something inspiring about achievement. When one journeys to a famous city and sees wonderful buildings, fine artistic homes, a tremendous fabric of commerce and industry, he is incited to go back and try to do something along the line of attainment. And the way to success is always open to those who know how to play the game.

Fortune does not come by luck. Success comes from playing the recognized game of business, taking advantage of economic law, giving the people some better service than they had before.

The pages of any well-circulated magazine or newspaper will give the ambitious man hints about the way of business. In the magazines he will see the notices of products that have been developed by advertising. He will note many articles that have become a household word through the power of publicity. A few years ago the producers of these articles may have been obscure men. But they had faith to go ahead and promote their products through publicity, and a great harvest has resulted.

So it is in the use of publicity in the newspaper field. All big successes in retail trade have been produced by advertising. A number of years ago in many cases these firms were unknown or non-existent, or only starting in a small way.

Their owners were students of human nature. They knew that if a concern kept its name and its before the eyes of the people, if it constantly told about the things it was selling, it would arouse public interest and get more than its share of trade. When people get that idea and advertise intelligently and turn out a good product, success is as sure to come as anything can be in this world of change. It is a short path to success, and the door is always open to newcomers.

THE BOY AND THE DIKE

"FOREST LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
Nancy Hollenbeck, young and beautiful, wants to keep her newest beau, Mat Tully, all to herself. Returning from a ride she leaves him at the door to avoid her mother's questionings and her sister's stares.

NOW GO WITH THE STORY

MOTHER WARNS AGAINST MARRYING POOR MAN

CHAPTER II

LOU stitched on in the electric silence. Mama's chair squeaked. Papa rustled his papers, pretending to read. Nancy flushed and more surprised than indignant, hung on her answer.

"Oh, it isn't that you aren't pretty," she said finally. "You are, of course. Awfully pretty. I didn't mean that you weren't, but you care? Not very Fleming and Gil Neal and all that crowd. They can get a million pretty girls—not as pretty as you perhaps. But pretty enough. The woods are full of them. All looking for men is someone with a fortune—like May Belle Craig. Or a wonderful place in society like that fat Preston girl. Wonderful chance we have! Take my advice and grab off the Tully person if you can. He may not have much now, but I'd bank on him going ahead. You'd never start with him—he'll make money fast enough!"

"Hm. . . mmm. . . Papa cleared his throat nervously. He was sensitive about the subject of money. Poor Peter Hollenbeck, who had never made any money, and owed so much. . . so terribly much."

"I'd like to see May Belle Craig or Vera Preston get Mat Tully away from me," Nancy hadn't meant to say that, it just slipped out.

"Girls!" Mama's little wrinkled hands fluttered in protest. "You mustn't SAY such things. It—it sounds common."

Common Truth

"The truth is always common," Louise flashed back. "That's why we never hear it around here. We're so darned refined we never face anything. We just go on pretending, fooling ourselves, and nobody else."

"LOUISE!" Mrs. Hollenbeck's voice rose to a shrill whistle. "I won't HAVE it. I don't know where you GET that common streak. I'm sure it's not from MY side of the family. When I was a young girl, I'd no more have thought of caring at my dear mother's feet than I'd have thought of jumping in the b-bay!"

Her voice broke, the little claw-like hand strayed for her handkerchief, her mild eyes, fog-time-mists in the corners, wept of her once pretty face, dripped slow tears.

"Kitty, Kitty dear," papa begged. "Don't excite yourself. You'll have one of your headaches. Here, clear, take my handkerchief. It's clean. When Louise didn't mean to hurt your feelings, did you, Lou?"

Mama sniffed happily, waiting for the apology. But Louise, tired and angry after a long, hot day of waiting and mending and mending—"praying out a few things," it was euphemistically called in the Hollenbeck household—shut her mouth tightly and made it plain that she had nothing more to say.

In many a household, punctuated only by muffled sniffling sniffs and papa's soothing comfort, Nancy slipped upstairs to bed.

It was just as she knew it would be. The family post-mortems were always the same. You couldn't even fall in love decently and quickly. Louise's hawk eye would discover it, and mama would start prying, and in a minute all that would be left of your shining lover would be a few discolored, decomposing shreds. "It isn't FAIR," she whimpered, her lips against the pillow—it isn't fair!

"Mama!"

She expected an answer, a protest, against giving up the good-looking Mr. Tully so soon, but none came. Nancy lay back against her pillows, her eyes closed, her young mouth sullen and hard.

"Nancy, promise mama you won't do anything foolish!"

The dark lashes quivered. "No, I won't do anything foolish. I must have been crazy to ever think . . . to ever think . . ."

"Tell mama—to ever think WHAT, dear?"

"Oh, to get romantic about Mat. To think I . . . he family oh, please, mamma, go to BED!"

"Mama's girlie." The little padded figure in the fraying satin dressing gown leaned closer. Her dry lips brushed Nancy's—and she had never felt so far away so shut out.

"Nancy, speak to mama!" she cried, afraid of something of some new unnamed thing coming between her and her girl, her baby.

"What do you want me to say, for goodness sake?" Nancy was watching her, with cold, appraising curiosity.

The Warning

"It's just that—that you seemed so quiet," she faltered. "Mama was afraid you didn't understand." She wanted to cry out, to gather her daughter to her meagre breast, to croon over her as she did when she was a baby, but she couldn't do that. She couldn't even talk naturally with Nancy watching her like that, so coldly. "I want you to be happy," she struggled on, awkwardly. "I—I haven't anything in the world but you girls. I'm advising you for your own good."

"You don't know what it means to be poor—to marry a poor man. I—I did, you know. It's been so hard. Nobody knows. Your father and I have looked forward so to you girls marrying well. . . oh, you don't understand!" She broke down and wept, uncontrollably then, until Nancy, murmuring endearments, took her into her strong, slender arms, and bullied and coaxed her back to calm.

So Kitty Hollenbeck went back to her room comforted, and it was not until she woke at dawn (it was that someone crying in the house, or just the wind rattling the stiff leaves of the magnolia tree?) that she remembered that all the while Nancy was petting her, her eyes were trained hard and cold, her words a trick of the light, she decided. "My girls think too much of their mother. . . good girls. . . don't have to worry about them. I know them too well. . ."

But it is the unusual mother who knows her own daughter in the year of our Lord, 1930.

"Nancy, promise mama you won't do anything foolish!"

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

by Edson R. Wate Shawnee, Okla.

THAT rightly directed public spirit will do wonders.

"An individual can't do much alone. It takes a large number to get results. In working for the home city, all factional or personal grievances, petty malice and jealousies should be forgotten. When the community is filled with a progressive spirit and every citizen works toward a common end in a united and harmonious way, then they will get results. When this is done, business will move forward rapidly. Better business for home concerns means more employment and a more prosperous city. All business men should pull together for better business. IF BUSINESS CONCERNS WON'T PULL TOGETHER THEY WILL HAVE NO PULL ANYWHERE."

ONLY ONE FARMER GAINS MEMBERSHIP

COLUMBUS, O.—Only on one farm in Ohio, that belonging to Glen Brown & Son, New Paris, Preble County, did the official yield of corn reach 100 bushels an acre on a ten-acre plot in 1930.

Glen Brown & Son are the sole members in the 100-bushel corn club for 1930, a club sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service of the Ohio State University.

Early in the year 185 other farmers signified an intention with R. D. Lewis, extension specialist in farm crops for the university, to try for membership in the club, but owing to the drought none of these was successful.

The 100-bushel corn club was first organized in 1917, and its membership is composed of those farmers who have grown 100 bushels of shelled corn on 10 acres. In the 15 years the club has been in existence, 173 yields of more than 100 bushels an acre have been measured by the university specialists. Lewis explains, however, that the club by no means contains all the growers of corn who have obtained this yield in Ohio. It contains, he says, only those farmers who attained the yield months after expressing an intention of trying for club membership.

The draught so seriously reduced the yield of corn in Ohio this past year that only a very few of the entrants in the contest desired to have their yields measured. Club members are scattered over 43 counties of the state.

Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA

Sometimes unexpected accidents in motion picture making threaten the insertion of more realism than was originally intended for the scenes in question.

Such an experience occurred when Edgar Selwyn took scenes of Robert Ames and Robert Montgomery about to take off in wartime "Spad" planes, for sequences in "War Nurse" at the Cliftona Theatre Friday and Saturday.

The scenes were close-ups taken with the engines going so as to record both sound and vibration. In leaning over to get a direction, shouted by Selwyn against the engine noise, Montgomery nudged the starting apparatus. The plane started to move off and in a second was beyond the close-up lenses.

Fortunately, however, Montgomery is more than a "swivel chair" pilot. He is a flyer, and knows the working of plane gets. In an instant he had stopped the plane and shortly it was back in its proper position.

Sound Teeth Depend Upon Sound Health

—They Quickly Reflect Deficiencies Elsewhere

Promote the General Health and Your Teeth Will Also Benefit, Says Dr. Copeland, Pointing Out Why the Beneficial Food Elements are Necessary

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

It is not possible to regard the teeth as structures wholly separate from the entire human organism. The condition of the whole body is reflected to the very last cell. When there is perfect health, you will find perfect teeth.

Diet is one of the fundamental factors in the upkeep of the body. But it is not all. If we had only to eat to live, life would be simple.

Dr. Copeland is particularly important in the formative period, that is, during the prenatal and infant stages. A plentiful supply of milk of the mineral-bearing fruits and vegetables, are the chief requirements during this time.

To be on the safe side a mother must live by the simple rules of diet and general health during pregnancy. Her baby must have the benefits of breast feeding and direct sunlight.

Of course, during the long winter months, when there is little sunshine, growing children need the protective vitamins found in cod liver oil orange and tomato juice along with the milk diet. These foods reinforce the bone and tooth building forces in the little bodies.

All the common rules of health must be observed if a child is to have sound teeth. If he eats candy to his heart's content if he to sit up late at night, if he spends his days playing indoors, instead of out-of-doors in the sunshine, then, good mothers, you are laying up future misfortune for your child.

From the time baby's teeth begin to appear they should be cleansed with clean gauze wet with water or salt solution. By the time the child is three years old he should have about twenty temporary teeth. Now is the time to begin visiting the dentist, for these teeth will perhaps need repairing. Let a child be the proud possessor of his own toothbrush and dentifrice, and learn to brush his own teeth.

The teeth should be brushed after every meal. They should be brushed from the gums upward or downward, not across, in order to remove every particle of food that may lodge between the teeth. Rub the gums every day with a clean cloth or toothbrush. This hardens the gums and stimulates the circulation there. A child can be easily taught these simple rules for teeth protection.

Use plenty of hard foods, as well as nourishing foods. The teeth and jaws need exercise as much as do the muscles. Body exercise is necessary for everyone, even for the baby. Let the baby kick freely. He loves it and needs it. See that the members of your family have all the sunlight and fresh air they possibly can.

Have even the youngest three-year-old visit the dentist at least once six months. Let him find the cavities when they are small and when they can be taken care of easily. Everything that can be done to promote the general health should be done, for on it, as I have said, depends sound teeth.

Broadway's Speakeasies Discuss Group's Report

BY DAVID P. SENTER.
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Tom, Dick and Harry of Broadway's "speakeasy" belt stayed up until dawn today discussing the Wickersham report.

Tom and Dick belonged to that fourth dimension of society—a speakeasy's clientele.

Harry was the bartender. Business was brisk all around the liquor circuit. Where there is conversation there is always good business and the report of the Wickersham commission inspired plenty of wodge.

In almost every one of the establishments which indirectly caused the Wickersham document there were Toms and Dicks playing Amos and Andy on the subject. And there were Harrys all along the line playing "yes men" to whatever Tom or Dick had to say as the cash register clinked merrily.

Tom thought the report said one thing and Dick thought it said another.

"It says yes and no," suggested Harry.

"The dries ought to be happy," said Tom.

"The wets ought to be tickled," said Dick.

"It won't do no good and it won't do no harm," said Harry. That report will only keep the pot a-boiling."

"They recommended more prohibition agents," said Tom.

"And they need it," said Harry. "There's too many birds in this racket. There's more joints where you can buy a drink within a square mile of here than there are prohibition agents in the United States."

"You're making a living out of prohibition," Harry," said Dick. "What's it to you whether they reveal it or whether they don't?"

"You guys give me a headache," said Harry. "We boy'd like to run this racket on the level so we could get our names in the telephone book. And what d'ye think my kiddies will think when they grow up and find out their old man is a bootlegger? I betcha never thought of the kiddies."

"Say, Harry, did you read the Wickersham report?" asked Tom.

"Naw, I been too busy," said Harry. "Have you guys?"

"How you gonna read 90,000 words?" said Tom.

"I read the headlines," said Dick. "I'm gonna read it all some day."

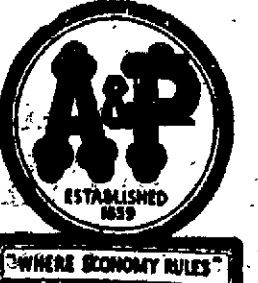

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

FILMERS LOSE ACTIVE SCENES

BERLIN. A motion picture crew filming wild animals in Africa by swooping down from above in an airplane and photographing them within a few feet probably lost its opportunity today to "shoot" the best hair raising thriller in a decade.

According to reports to Bzanzimittag from Arusha, Africa, a lion jumped at the low flying plane of the filming expedition of Eddy Von Gontard and Ernst Udet, badly damaging the wing with its claws. The crippled machine landed safely some distance away, however, and was charged by a rhinoceros.

The animal practically wrecked the plane and injured the crew, but the latter were saved from death by a second plane.

C. A. C. Card To Draw Large Crowd Tonight

THRILLER AT NEW LEXINGTON AND RECENT CLUB VICTORIES WITH GOOD PRELIMS TO HELP

A large crowd is expected at the C. A. C. gym this evening when the New Lexington Company F. outfit travel here for an encounter with the Club team. Two weeks ago the Club defeated New Lex. on the Perry-co court in a thrilling overtime contest and another game of the same style is expected this evening.

The starting lineup of the Club team depends greatly on whether Judy Gordon's injured hand is in condition. If it is Gordon will start at his regular forward post. If it isn't Parks will be in the lineup at his forward and Wallace will be at center. Eve Merriman will be at his guard position and either Doty Courtright or Bob Pickens will start at the other.

Steele, Parks, Wallace, Merriman and Pickens started the game against Federal Glass last week with Courtright entering the lineup early in the game.

New Lexington's crack team will lineup with Swackhammer and center, and Lowe and Bonfield at Reichley at forwards, Harrop at guards.

The big game will be refereed by Chick Pearce, popular arbiter.

Two preliminaries which are expected to draw a part of the crowd have been scheduled. The first will see the curtain rise at 7 p. m. with the Flying Clouds and the Jackson-twp. Soils mixing. This will be the first game on this court this year for the Jackson team which always is a good one.

The second preliminary to get under way immediately following the Cloud-Jackson game will see George Crum's Gordon Tires playing the Guild A. C. team of Columbus. The Guild team defeated an opponent in Columbus 66-12 last week and should furnish tough opposition for the Gordons.

HOOVER TO TALK AT HARDING TOMB

MARION, O.—Expressing considerable satisfaction at President Hoover's announcement that he will participate in the long-deferred dedication of the Harding Memorial here, members of the executive committee of the memorial association today planned to begin arrangements for the ceremony.

In view of Mr. Hoover's wishes, the dedication of the memorial to be held some time after June 1st. A definite date for the ceremonies will probably be set at a meeting of the executive committee to be held within the next few weeks.

Hoke Donithen, secretary of the memorial association, has suggested that the fourth of July would be an appropriate date. Some members of the association, however, prefer that the ceremonies be held in June.

Mr. Hoover, in all likelihood, it was said, will deliver the dedicatory address. Calvin Coolidge also will be asked to participate in the ceremonies.

There is also the element of safety in leaving aside a little for the rainy day.

BAER TO FACE TOM LOUGHRAN

Young Coast Star Takes on Another Tough Opponent Under Garden.

By Hype Igoe
NEW YORK, Jan. 22—Max Baer, the California Adonis, may never reach the giddy heights of the heavyweight championship, but it won't be because he didn't try.

You can't blame a youngster for trying and Baer, with only seventeen months of actual ring warfare under his belt, took on Ernie Schaaf, a fellow who had been along the road to recognition for five years! It has been my contention all along that it takes a fighter—a good fighter—five years to become good.

They've matched Baer and Tommy Laughran for Feb. 6 in Madison Square Garden. Right off the reel I'd say it was a bad match—for Baer. It won't be a bad match cause it will draw.

But, with more than casual admiration for good looking young Baer, I must confess that he appears to have gone in over his head. I might be wrong but I'll have nine of every ten fight fans with me. How can this lad hope to beat a man of Laughran's finished ability.

Hand it to Baer. He took on Schaaf. It was awfully close, and only Schaaf's experience and his ability to pace himself, won out for him.

Right back came Baer to face old Tom Heeneey. Tom smacked Baer around quite smartly for two rounds, but the kid was only laughing. He says he would have come on and finished Tom early. Maybe so.

ROOT PLEADS FOR U.S. WORLD COURT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—Elihu Root, former secretary of state and co-author with Sir Cecil Hurst, of the world court compromise protocol by which President Hoover seeks membership on the court for the United States, pleaded his cause before the Senate foreign relations committee today.

In a clear strong voice, Root traced the history of the attempt to make the world court acceptable with the Senate and subsequent negotiations concerning the Senate's reservations.

He explained that the chief obstacle was the latter half of the fifth reservation dealing with advisory opinions.

"There was no difficulty among the signatories as to the first four and the first half of the fifth, having to do with publicity for advisory opinions," Root said.

PETROLLE AND McLARNIN SIGN

Bout To Draw Great Crowd In New York; Fargo Lad Won Last Fight.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—One of the greatest bouts fought and the best seen in New York since the Flatiron building became as declass as Kid McCoy is going to be re-enacted.

Madison Square Garden officials today opened negotiations for a return match between Jimmy McLarnin and Billy Petrolle, the country's leading welterweights.

When they fought here last year McLarnin bounced all over the floor. What a spectacle! There was the pride of New York, one of the most popular fighters the big town ever knew outside of the heavy weight division, rubbing his baby face all over the resin. He the Fargo boy a better lining to his dome, he would have knuckled out McLarnin.

The coast youngster claimed he broke his hand early in the bout and we believe him. In fact we believe him so fully we think his forthcoming return match with Petrolle should pave the way for him to win the welterweight title. The present champion is so obscure that if we don't recall his name no one should object. The first time he crawls through the ropes with a boxer like McLarnin or Petrolle he is bound to lose his crown and the winner of the McLarnin-Petrolle fight should get a title match.

STUMP SERVICES ARE HELD TODAY

VAN WERT, O.—Funeral services for Frank P. Stump, 64, former instructor in the college of agriculture at Ohio State University and founder of the college's official publication, "The Agricultural Student," were held here Thursday.

Stump, who is a father of Dale Stump, superintendent of the claims department of industrial relations, committed suicide Tuesday by hanging in a barn on his farm three miles north of Conroy, near here. His health was believed responsible for the act.

STATE FACES ASSIGNMENT

Meets Northwestern and Michigan in Road Trip; Future To Be Decided.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 22.—Facing one of the crucial points in the State University's court team will play or is newly-found scoring combination in its assault against Northwestern and Michigan on the coming week-end.

Northwestern, now leading the Western Conference championship race, will play host to the Buckeye quintet Saturday night at Evanston. It will be the toughest assignment thus far for the invaders. Some of the experts and followers of the Purple team are already hailing it as the Big Ten winner.

Leaving Evanston on Sunday, Coach Olsen and his band of Buckeyes will trek over to Ann Arbor for a return meeting with its ancient rival, Michigan. Ohio defeated the Wolverines last Saturday night and thus hung up its first victory over a Michigan cage outfit since 1926.

To date, the Evanston Wildcats are undefeated and have three conference victories to their credit and in a tie for first place in Chicago. The Maroons have won both of their league tilts and are favored to top Michigan Saturday in Indiana, the only Big Ten team to beat Ohio State so far this season, rests in third place with three wins and a single loss.

FIGHT WAGES OVER BILLS

WASHINGTON.—With the House Interstate Commerce Committee holding public hearings on maternity and infancy bill, a fight is being waged behind the scenes leading to the White House.

Representatives of a score of women organizations, who are backing the proposed appropriation of $1,000,000 a year, to be matched by states, are at the same time fighting against transfer of the work from the children's bureau of the labor department to the public health service.

The bill of Sen. Jones (R) of Washington, already passed by the Senate, provides $1,000,000 for five years, leaving control of the fund with Miss Grace Abbott, head of the children's bureau.

Another bill, sponsored by Rep. Cooper (R) of Ohio, provides $1,000,000 for five years, giving jurisdiction to both the children's bureau and the public health service, but after the five-year period.
